Slide 1: Title Slide

Henry’s Foodstuff Business

Everyday Essentials, Closer to Home

A small retail business providing foodstuffs and everyday household essentials to people in the Kalobeyei community.

- Founder: Mavuko John-bosco
- Location:Turkana west, Kalobeyei, Kenya

Slide 2: The Problem

Access to Everyday Essentials

Community members regularly need basic foodstuffs and household items. Finding the right products nearby, in affordable quantities, and when needed can be challenging for some households.

- Families need essential goods regularly.
- Customers may have limited money for large purchases.
- Convenient access and fair prices are important.

Slide 3: Our Solution

A Convenient Local Foodstuff Shop

My business brings commonly needed foodstuffs and everyday items closer to customers in the community.

- Offer essential products in practical quantities.
- Provide friendly and respectful customer service.
- Maintain clear prices and organize stock carefully.
- Improve product availability based on customer needs.

Slide 4: Products and Services

What We Sell

The business focuses on everyday foodstuffs and small household essentials.

- Beans and lentils
- Onions and salt
- Biscuits and sweets
- Soft drinks and other essential items

Future opportunities: Explore phone charging, photocopying, and lamination if customer demand and available resources support expansion.

Slide 5: Target Customers

Who We Serve

Our main potential customers are people who live and work in the surrounding community.

- Families and households
- Parents and caregivers
- Students and workers
- Neighbors and other local buyers

The business will use customer feedback to understand which products are most needed and affordable.

Slide 6: Market Opportunity

Meeting Recurring Community Needs

Foodstuffs and household essentials are products people purchase repeatedly, creating an opportunity for a reliable neighborhood business.

Our opportunity is to:

- Understand the products customers buy most often.
- Compare prices with nearby shops and suppliers.
- Identify gaps in product availability.
- Build repeat business through trust and good service.

Next step: conduct customer interviews and local price comparisons to validate demand.

Slide 7: Business Model

How the Business Earns Money

The business purchases products from suppliers and resells them to customers at retail prices.

- Purchase stock from reliable suppliers.
- Sell products at prices customers can afford.
- Earn a margin between the selling price and product cost.
- Record sales, expenses, and stock movements.
- Reinvest part of the profit to replenish stock.

Key principle: Monitor costs and cash flow so the business can remain sustainable.

Slide 8: Marketing Strategy

Building Customer Trust

Our marketing strategy will focus on visibility, service, and positive relationships with customers.

- Display available products neatly.
- Communicate prices clearly.
- Encourage word-of-mouth recommendations.
- Treat customers fairly and respectfully.
- Ask customers what they want the shop to stock.

Satisfied customers can help the business attract repeat buyers.

Slide 9: Competition and Advantage

Why Customers May Choose Us

Other local shops and informal sellers may offer similar products. Our business can build its reputation through reliable service and careful stock management.

Our planned advantages:

- Convenient access to essential goods.
- Friendly and respectful service.
- Fair, clearly displayed prices.
- Better understanding of customer preferences.
- Careful selection of fast-selling products.

Next step: compare at least three nearby competitors and their prices.

Slide 10: Operations Plan

Running the Business Effectively

Good daily management will help reduce losses and improve customer satisfaction.

- Check stock levels and replenish essential items.
- Identify reliable suppliers and compare purchase prices.
- Store products safely and check expiry dates.
- Record daily sales, purchases, and expenses.
- Review which products sell quickly and which sell slowly.

Slide 11: Financial Plan and Support Needed

Growing the Business Responsibly

The business needs careful financial planning to maintain stock and meet operating expenses.

Main cost areas:

- Purchasing initial and replacement stock
- Transporting goods from suppliers
- Storage and display materials
- A reserve for essential operating costs

Potential support: Business training, financial literacy, supplier connections, and suitable startup or working capital.

Before presenting, add your actual costs, sales figures, and funding request. Do not estimate these as confirmed figures without records.
